"Carrots and Other Poems" is a book that tries to look at life as it really happens to most people, with poems that are exhilarating and sad, quizzical and resilient, engaging and wistful. With settings from the northern American state of Minnesota, to Boston and New England, and then on to Singapore, Fedo, observant and alert to the nuances of living, crafts poems that ask, but refrain from easily answering, the important existential questions.

Carrots and Other Poems, by David Fedo

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. David Fedo is a native of Minnesota and a long time teacher of literature and college administrator in the United State. He is currently the Executive Director and Visiting Scholar at the Singapore branch of the Wheelock College (Boston, Massachusetts, USA) Center for International Education, Leadership, and Innovation. He was on a panel at the recent Singapore Writers Festival which explored the works of contemporary Italian, Singaporean and American poets.

The Singapore Book Club is a joint collaboration between the National Book Development Council of Singapore and The Arts House. No, you do not have to have read the book before coming, though we certainly hope you'll do so after the session.
